Established in 2013 with presence in the United States, India, Japan, Singapore, and Hong Kong, Vymo is a sales engagement platform that is deeply verticalised to serve use cases in banking, financial services, and insurance by enabling sales productivity for front-line personnel, sales managers and delivering insights to the business leaders. Vymo's major markets are in North America, India and the Asia-Pacific regions.

Vymo is trusted by over 250,000 salespeople worldwide across more than 65 global enterprises, including multinational banks and insurance firms. Gartner and Forrester have acknowledged Vymo in their customer relationship management (CRM) and sales technologies reports.

The company's focus in Hong Kong is to cater to the needs of automating the large sales force and financial advisors of banks operating in Hong Kong and the large agency, bancassurance and affiliated channels of insurance companies. Given Hong Kong's position as a regional headquarters for financial services companies, Vymo will focus on catering to the enterprise needs of these organisations across their business entities in the region.
